

Website Disclaimer

Written by Administrator

This website and all content herein is copyrighted by Apogee Consulting, Inc., and may not be used by others without written permission. The views reflected herein are the authors' own, and are not those of General Atomics Aeronautical Systems, Inc. or any client of Apogee Consulting, Inc. The author(s) are not authorized to act as spokespersons for General Atomics Aeronautical Systems, Inc. or for any client of Apogee Consulting, Inc. Accordingly, the views and/or opinions expressed herein are neither sanctioned nor supported by those entities.

Members are encouraged to post comments on this site. Comments are subject to editing and other moderation. Comments become the property of Apogee Consulting, Inc., unless rights are reserved by the poster(s) at the time of posting.

This website aims to create a fair, even-handed environment where issues of interest to the Government contracting community can be discussed without resort to ad hominem attacks or confirmations of Godwin's Law. Any person or entity that cannot meet this standard may be permanently banned from future participation. Occasionally, discussions may get strident or posters may engage in hyperbole. So long as the object of the angst is the discussion point and not the poster, we're okay with that.